BETTER FACILITIES WANTED.

Under the head of new business, Mr. Thomas L. Moore called the attention of the Chamber to the lack of a proper system for the livering goods at the Richmond and Danville depot, the practice in vogue being to unload the wagon or dray which, by crowding, could first reach the doors of this depot, which practice resulted in much confusion and sometimes in the injury or breaking of the vehicle carrying goods to that depot. At the Richmond, Fredericksbug and Potomac depot he said the rule was to unload vehicles in their proper turn, and he hoped the Chamber would use its influence to have a similar rule adopted by the Richmond and Danville ratiroad. The matter was referred to the Committee on inland Trade, with the request that they will have the trouble corrected.

A resolution relating to the Chamber of Commerce building was read to the meeting and referred upon motion of Dr. Page to the Board of Directors.

There being no further business before the Chamber the meeting then adjourned.

The Day of Atonement begins next Suaday evening.

This is the most sacred day in the entire Jewish year, and during the twenty-four hours no drink or food of any kind, inclinding water, is allowed to pass the hips of the faithful. Only the sick and children under the age of thriteen are exempt from the conditions of this fast.

Services will be held at all the synagogues next Sunday evening at dusk, lasting for several hours, and all day Monday.

Many of the prayers occurring in the Atonement service are used on only this day.

Company or Its Employees. Yesterday morning Coroner Taylor held an inquest in the case of Robert Cabell, the negro who was killed Wednesday by the negro who was killed Wednesslay by an electric-car on the Seventeenth-street branch running over him.

The evidence was in accord with the facts as published in the Disparch vesterday, and the verdict of the jury was that the deceased came to his death by his own carelessness and from the fact of his own dog tripping him up and throwing him under the wheels of the moving car.

No blame was attached to the employés of the Union Passenger-Railway Company, and both Messrs, Eayne and Flippen, motorman and conductor respectively on the car were fully experated.

Four colored convicts were received at the penitentiary yesterday from Augusta county. Three of them—William Garber, John Green, and James Seabonne—are to serve eight years each for highway robbery, and Lovejay Hope, convicted ot grand larceny, is to spend two and one-half years in the State prison.

CAPTAIN CUNNINGHAM SINGS. A recess was taken, during which the banners of the Hazleton Survivors, a so-end organization connected with the association, were displayed, and Captain Frank Cunningham sang "When Leaving Dear Old Ireland" and "The Old Folks are Gone." He was touchy applauded.

Upon the reassembling of the association a list of bills was read and reterred to the Finance Committee with instructions the Finance Committee with instructions that the bills be allowed if approved by

An amendment to the constitution providing that members of a local association moving to another point shall be admitted to the association of the latter place on pavment of a nominal fee provoked considerable discussion, and was finally reterred to the Committee on Constitution and By-Laws.

A rising vote of thanks was extended the Governor for tendering the use of the hall to the association. Thanks were also extended Rev. Dr. Kerr, the Richmond Committee of Reception, the Mayor, Captain Cunningham, and the press.

Ten dollars was voted the Capitol janitor for his services.

The convention then proceeded to the election of officers.

Mr. Billow, of Ohio, in a highly-complimentary speech nominated for president Mr. Joseph W. Laube, of Richmond. The mention of Mr. Laube's name was greeted with tren endous applause.

Mr. Gordon, of New York, seconded the nomination and his remarks were the occasion of another outburst of applause.

On motion the Secretary, Mr. Sharer, cast the ballot of the convention for Mr. Laube and the announcement was received with three cheers and a tiger.

ME. LAUBE'S REMARKS. As Mr. Laube was conducted to the Speaker's chair by a committee appointed to wait on him and inform him of his elec-tion the convention received him standing.

Mr. Laube was introduced as the president-elect by Mr. Crane, and in acknowledging the compliment of his election ledging the compliment of his election said:

Since starting upon fhe work in which the convention was engaged in his heart had been it, and he has had no patience with any one who was not willing to accept the responsibility and burdens that might be put upon him. They could not expect much from his single efforts, but with the aid of the lieutenants that might be scated he hoped to push forward the work. He hoped that the members would carry with them the enthusiasm that had been exhibited here, and inspire the people at home with aspirit of progress. What he had to say to the association in an official capacity would reach them through the press of the business, which he commended for its zeal.

He did not, he continued, know what to say in conclusion, except to thank the convention from the bottom of his heart for the honor.

the honor.

The retiring president, Mr. Bringhurst, congratulated the convention on the conduct of their selection and returned his thanks to the other officers who had asled him in discharging his duties during incumbency of the office. He asked for his successor the same support that had been given him during his incumbency. Referring to the ladies in the gallery of the hall, he thanked them for their attendance.

OTHER OFFICERS CHOSEN. First

ness, and efficiency of Mr. Sharer, who had served continuously for four terms.

Mr. Pearson, of Louisville, thanked the association for selecting his city as the next place of meeting. He said that Kentucky could not expect to excel Virginia in hospitality, but she was a daughter of Virginia and could endeavor to crowd the old lady pretty close.

President Laube arose and said that among the events that have crowded on him during the last few days was a particularly pleasant duty. He then went on to voice the sentiment of the association in a strong tribute to retiring President Bringhurst, and in behalf of a committee appointed to purchase a testimonial for Mr. Bringhurst expressive of their appreciation of him presented him with four plush-colored cases containing, respectively six dozen silver speons and torks and a gold-lined silver berry bowl, a gold-lined silver berry bowl, a gold-lined silver berry spoon, and a gold-lined sugar bowl and cream bowl.

Mr. Bringhurst thanked the association in a few feeling remarks.

The association then took a recess until Saturday at 3 o'clock. GIVEN PRETTY SILVERWARE.

Two Storms Off the Coast. [New York Herald, October 8th.]

[New York Herald, October 8th.]

The storm off the Virginia coast yesterday evening is moving to the northeastward, followed by a second cyclone from the vicinity of Cuba. The latter had progressed nearly up to Cape Hatteras last night. With two such disturbances careering on the Atlantic it will be well for coastwise shipping to be navigated with special caution.

We congratulate the Democracy of the Thirty-second Senatorial district upon the nomination and acceptance of Dr. Thomas H. Barnes. When his duty confronted him he met it without flinching. Personally he was, as we know, entirely averse to another term, and his mind was firmly made up to decline, but his constituents overwhelmed and forced him into service again. A very high and richly-merite compliment is thus paid Dr. Barnes, while his final consent to serve is a personal sacrifice which the whole State should appreciate.—Norfolk Landmark.

firmed its principal points yesterday and said:

"There was no reason known why this secret marriage should have taken place, as there were no objections to the union at the proper time and place. Myself and my family were well pleased at the propect of the match, if made in the usual way, but this manner of getting married has outraged all our feelings, as well as all sense of propriety. The young couple will not live together, and I have already taken steps to have the marriage annulled. I believe my daughter sstatement that she was inveigled into this marriage by Heverin."

HANS GOT IN THE WRONG BED.

Agnew appeared on the scene and interfered. They hurried Hans into cover and then sent back for his clothes. He was a very battered, frightened passenger who was conducted to Bunk No. 103 in the steerage.

Roswell P. Flower is a plain-spoken man who ordinarily confines himself in his speeches to cold matters of fact, as business-men generally do who have made their own way up in the world. This is his style of exhortation—simple, direct, and forceful: "I want to say to you, do your duty. See that there is no shirking; that all your voters are registered; that a full yote is polled." Nothing could be more to the purpose.

The state-room in question had been engaged by a recommendation of the purpose.

The state-room in question had been engaged by a young couple who were returning from their wedding tour. The husband had left his wife to retire while he had a good-night cigar in the open air. When Hans Endrichkeit entered therefore he was somewhat surprised to find a young woman in the lower bunk of his apartment. She was sleeping soundly. Her diamond bracelet and a tiny gold watch were on the dresser and her dress adorned the back of a chair.

"This is a remarkable country," said Hans to himself, as he added his big silver watch to the other jewelry. "I spose the last one in fastens the door," and he turned the brass key quietly. A few minutes later he was in the upper bunk, sleeping as peacefully as the young woman in the cot below.

There came a rap at the door. Hans was snoring, but the young woman awoke.

"Who's there?" she inquired.

"It's me," replied a familiar voice ungrammatically.

Then the bride discovered Han's clothing and gave a scream that was heard from one end of the main saloon to the other. Passet was filed with costly furniture and tapes and the loss is estimated at $200,000.
